Dance, Convocation Highlight Christmas Season

ABOVE: Paul Rudshagen, Pam Nolan, Barbara Brooks, Sue Newcom and Pam Jenkins rehearse for their parts in the Christmas convocation. The pantomime troupe gave several sketches that dealt with the Christmas season. "Charlie Brown's Christmas" was presented by Di Ann Coburn, Don Nichols, Rita Hoferman, David Willis and Randy Crouch in the form of the interpreter's theater. Margaret Crouch directed both presentations.

"Can't We Be Friends?"

Can't we be friends? This seems to be the plea of senior Doug Kinney in the picture at the right. The stray kitten was only one of the many visitors to Perry High this year.

Trade and Industry Assists in Job Training

ABOVE: Members of the Trades and Industry program included: Glen Peterson, Walter Kistler, Charles Bell, Carl Crum, Everett Bollerman, Spencer Nath and Russell Wolf. This program enabled seniors to get on the job training in some trade so that after they graduated they were assured of a vocation. Tom South headed this program.

Seniors Combine Merriment And Studies

Taking part in the volleyball game in physical education class is senior Linda Springer.

Senior Ronald Lapp is intently listening to the French dialogue coming through his headphones. One of the many students taking advantage of the new French room equipment, Ron compares the dialogue in the book with that of the speaker.

Since the library, under the supervision of Lois Noble, was a good place to study, Susan Newcom, Donald Gardner and Janice Davis took advantage of its facilities often. Here they are hard at work on one of their many assignments. The library was enlarged by 396 books this year. Books are purchased, added from Miss Noble's own collection or offered from other staff members and members of the student body. The library has over 5000 books and an extensive magazine section for source material.

Courses Offer Lab Experience To Many Students

Sophomore geometry students, Jeanette Carris and Diane Terveen, are taking a preview look at the slide rule used mainly in second year algebra while studying the relationship of plane surfaces to solids with the plastic models in the new math laboratory. Geometry students taught by Elsa Hay also made some of their own solid geometry models.

Freshman earth science students, James Brelsford, Greg Luethje, Marla Volz, Joan Kastner and Breck Main, are plotting the periods of time in the earth's geological history in units of one billion years on lengths of adding machine tape to gain a more accurate concept of how slowly life as we know it developed on this earth. Hoping the students will realize that a million years is a short period of time in the geological history of the earth, instructor William Reibsamen is helping the students.

Using Bunsen burners, pyrex test tubes, zinc, copper sulfate and hydrochloric acid, senior chemistry students, Brian Wilson and Robert Strait, are performing experiments concerning the behavior of elements in double and single replacement reactions. As a safety precaution, chemistry students always wear protective plastic glasses and plastic aprons.

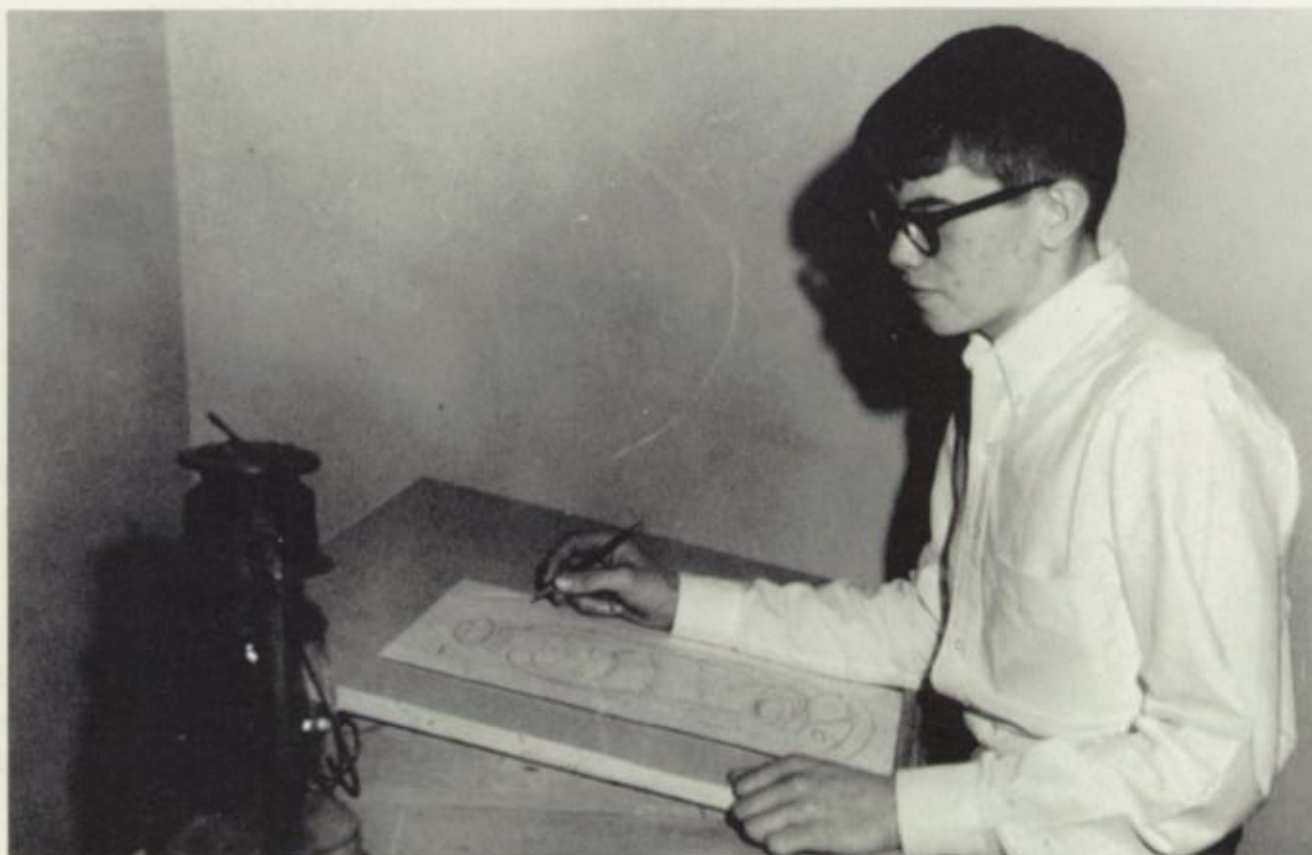

Students Pursue Studies Diligently

As part of his advanced science course, senior Norman Little works with the radio students who were assigned by instructor William Fox to construct. Besides electronics under Mr. Fox, this course covered botany taught by Eugene Brady and chemistry instructed by Leonard C. Rossman.

Neila Gordon and Debbie Halling, Juniors, review a problem concerning linear equations for algebra II.

Sophomore Kenney Winkleman sketched an old kerosene lantern in his art I class. Some of the various projects the art class undertook were repeat designs to teach color principles and design make-up, and also oil painting.

At the party following the first home game of the Jayettes, varsity guards Cheryl Roush and Debbie Gilbertson talk things over with junior Randy Crouch.

Marla Volz rushes between classes, pausing only to stop at her locker. The problem of choosing a schedule and getting acquainted with high school's faster pace bothered many freshmen.

Yvonne West and Renee Fielder go from the gymnasium to the cafetorium after the convocation on Thanksgiving dress-up day. The choir and individual readers presented the annual program, after which school was dismissed for the Thanksgiving vacation.

Freshmen Marked by Brains and Adeptness

Todd Tripp and Marcia Plumb descend some stairs while exploring the new addition. The enlargement of new classroom area will give the freshmen many advantages as they continue through their high school career. This picture was taken on dress-up day before Thanksgiving, the day when some of the rooms in the new area were opened.

Freshmen discovered a whole new world, both real and microscopic, as they began high school. Here Carol Collins and Ron Wilkinson are studying blood plasma as an after school part of biology. Freshmen had the choice of biology or earth science as their science requirement.

Council Acts As Liaison Between Student Body and Administration

Student Council advisor Leo Pedersen shows Ron Heck damaged silverware that had been stepped on during lunch shifts. Throughout the year the council handled many problems plaguing students. The council was instrumental in getting sand to cover the parking lot, thus helping the problem of a muddy lot during wet weather.

Football Team Meets Tough Competition

Dennis Pennington attempts to block a Sac City man, but his efforts are in vain as the ball carrier Bill Reiter is being tackled from behind.

Taking over the coaching chores from Graydon Lappe, James Bellamy coached the Bluejays to a 2-6 season. Their triumphs included a homecoming victory over Harlan and a sound smashing of Denison, 27-0.

Junior Marvin England led the Jay ground gainers with a respectable 4.9 yard rushing average. Dave Coburn, a sophomore, and Norman Little, a senior, had 3.5 and 3.3 yard averages, respectively. Senior Larry Bandy hurled 30 complete passes. On the end of these tosses were usually junior Steve Payton or senior Dennis Pennington.

Defensive sparklers were juniors Jim Beaman and Don Glass, senior Dave Fagen and sophomore Jim Dolan.

Coach Bill Reibsamen's Bluejay grapplers ended their season with a 2-9 record, Jim Beaman, Dave Fagen and Richard Bailey led the Jays with 9-1-1, 8-1-1 and 8-3-0 records, respectively.

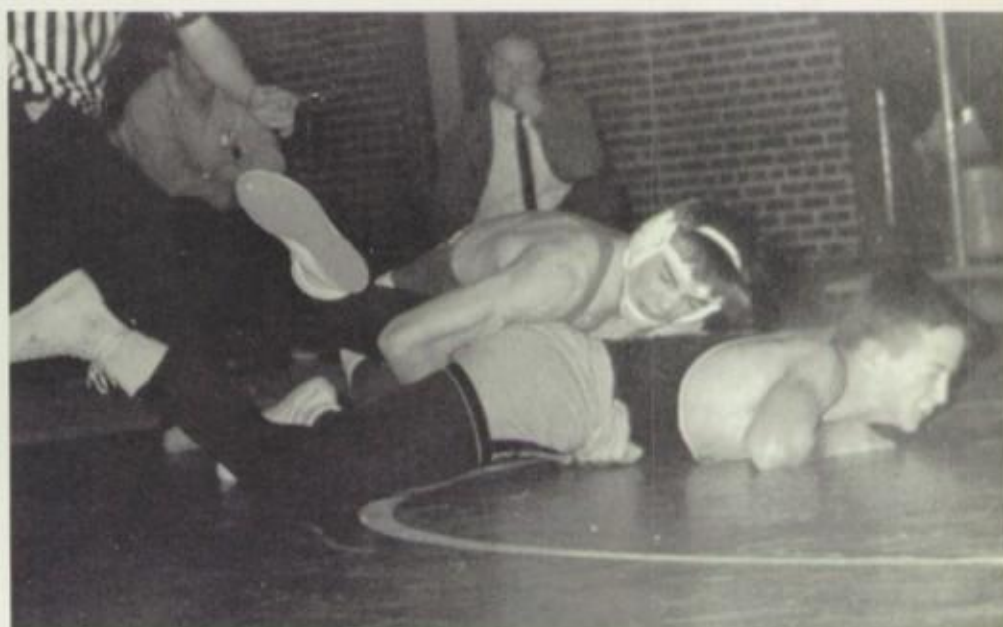

Perry was represented in the district tournament by Jim Beaman, Dave Fagen, Gerald Juels and Richard Bailey.

Letterwinners were Jack Garrett, Richard Bailey, Dan Kilmer, Marvin England, Jim Beaman and Dave Fagen.

Wrestlers Advance Four to District Meet

Applying the "Beaman," the author Jim Beaman tries for a pin the hard way over Indianola's Bob Aldridge. Characteristic of Jim's wrestling style, fans enjoyed this hold in every meet Jim appeared. Jim racked up a respectable 9-1-1 dual meet record, and advanced to the district meet at Ft. Dodge.

Senior Richard Bailey maneuvers Winterset's John Alexander in hopes of a victory. Bailey and Dave Fagen were the only seniors on the varsity squad. Rich won eight matches, lost one and tied one. Dave also gained eight wins against three losses in dual competition.

Grappler Marvin England, junior, takes advantage of Audubon's Jim Johannsen to score a win. Marvin evened out the season with a 5-5-1 dual meet record.

Rich Bailey attempts to pin Ames' Howie Randalls during the Ames-Perry match. He is applying a half nelson hold.

Officers of the Future Teachers of America Chapter were Jeff Whiton, vice-president; Linda Seeley, treasurer; Judy Burrell, parliamentarian; Jerry Bennett, president; Fredi Tingwald, historian; and Carole Conard, (not pictured) secretary; Gayle Junkin and John Turner, instructors, served as advisors of the FTA junior branch of the National Education Association and Iowa State Education Association.

FTA and UN Delegation Added This Year

Members of the delegation to the Model United Nations were Fredi Tingwald, Kent Taylor, Brian Parker, Timm Wilkin, Norma Lozano, and Pat Wilson. These students represented Portugal at the session held in Cedar Falls. Marvin Scott, social studies teacher, sponsored the students.

Journalists Toil Daily on Yearbook and Weekly Telital

Monday is a day of decision in journalism class. Here students are shown grading the Telital and selecting top stories.

Winners in the annual 1966 Eclam talent show were Pam Gearhart and Chris Fazel, first place; Scott Elston, Austin Ballentine, and Loren Fisher, second place; and Pat McConahay, third place.

Journalists "Eclam" Spotlights Talent

Receiving a prize of $10, Pam and Chris sang a medley of folk songs.

Marching Band Entertains at Football Halftime

Stage Band Features Popular Music

Receiving a I rating at the State Solo and Ensemble Music Contest with his bass horn, was Jim Kidney.

Serving as band officers for the year were secretary, John Kidney; president, Diana Farley; vice-president, Jim Kidney and publicity chairman, Ron Heck.

Musicians Enter State Competition

ABOVE: Barbara Dubridge, Ron Heck, Lynn Porsch and Sharon Loyd received a II rating at state on their saxophone quartet.

AT RIGHT: Sharon Loyd captured a I rating in state competition with her saxophone solo. She also received a II on her piano solo. Sharon, a senior, completed 4 years of contest competition.

Linda Modlin, Janet Modlin, Peggy Buettell and Nancy Hyson entered state contest with their flute quartet and received a II rating. Peggy also received a III on her flute solo.

Comprising the clarinet quartet, Diana Farley, Linda Archer, Pat Wuebker and Bill Dayton received a II rating at state. A trio composed of Diana, Linda and Pat received a I rating and on a clarinet solo, Diana received a II.

These sailors were overwhelmed by the 'feminine charms' of freshman Jack Garrett in "Honeybun."

Choir's Year Earmarked by "Lullaby of Broadway"

BELOW: "Lullaby of Broadway," the mixed chorus ' spring show, was a review of 'the best of Broadway' from its beginnings in 1908 up to the present. Pictured below are members of the group which sang "Life Upon The Wicked Stage," a number about the glamorous life of a Broadway star.

PERRY HIGH SCHOOL MIXED CHORUS 1965-1966

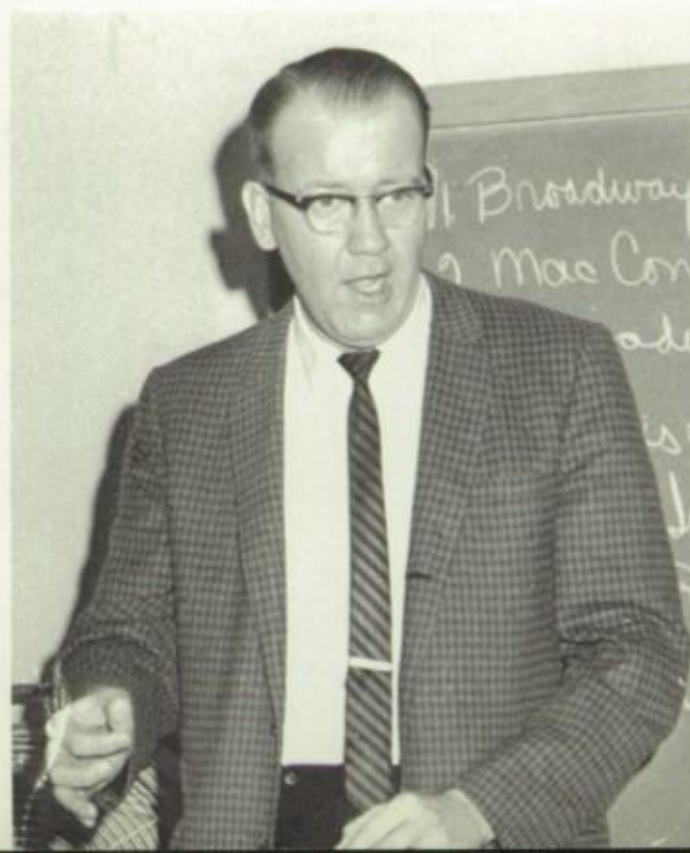

Perry High's "Sound of Music"

BELOW: Linda Wagoner, sophomore, served as the choir's accompanist. She spent many hours practicing choir music each week.

ABOVE: Choir officers were Roger Bys, president; Barbara Brooks, vice-president; and DiAnn Coburn, secretary-treasurer. These three students worked with Mr. Hall in planning the Christmas concert, the spring show and other choir activities. In November they helped make arrangements for the choir-sponsored candy sale, the purpose of which was to raise money for an accoustical choir shell for use in concerts.

BELOW: Alan Hall completed his seventh year as director of the choir. Major public appearances were participation in the Thanksgiving Union Service, a Christmas concert, a spring show, a graduation concert plus various other appearances.

PERRY HIGH SCHOOL MIXED CHORUS 1965 - 1966

Roger Bys, Rita and Muriel Hoferman and John Kidney were members of the quartet that represented the choir at the annual All State Music Festival in Des Moines during the Thanksgiving holidays. They were one of 600 groups chosen from Iowa's high schools to participate in the festival which was highlighted by a public concert at KRNT Theater.

Twins Jim and John Kidney harmonized in an apropos song, "Without You I'm Nothing."

Adding a classical note to the spring show was the "Flower Duet" from "Madame Butterfly" by Pam Gearhart and Mary Jo Mathis.

Here Steve Anthens and Roger Bys sang a eulogy about "Pore Jud" from the musical "Oklahoma."

Eighty-five girls attended the annual Y-Teen chili supper. Other events were the Dad-Daughter Donut Dunk and Mother-Daughter Tea.

In preparation for the annual special education children's Christmas party, Ann Burkhead, a nurse at Woodward State Hospital, spoke to the Y-Teens on mental retardation.

These students were the Y-Teen officers. They included Pam Jenkins, vice-president; Barbara Brooks, president; and Julie Rolleston, secretary.

D E Promotes Salesmanship

Distributive Education Club officers were Jeff Lientz, president; Susan Spinks, secretary-treasurer; Kathy Johnson, historian and Gary Zuckweiler, vice-president. The club, associated with the distributive education program, enabled students to take courses in merchandising and salesmanship. They also participated in "on-the-job" training.

Shown here was Pam Lockridge who did bookkeeping at a local bank.

Another D. E. student, Larry Motsick, writes a receipt for a customer. He worked at a local hardware store. After attending morning classes, the students worked at local businesses in the afternoon. Michael Sheehan directed the distributive education program.

Here Jeff Lientz helps a customer select a pair of shoes. This job gave him experience in salesmanship.

Chris Fazel, Doug Buffington and Dennis Rausch pose in the costumes all Thespian initiates were required to wear. Each initiate had to make a costume depicting the part in the play he performed for the actives.

BELOW: All the initiates are shown in their costumes. In addition to learning a part in a play, they had to memorize a monologue from "Hamlet" and the Thespian motto.

Di Ann Coburn, Steve Anthens and Linda Bennett were president, vice-president and secretary for the club during the year.

Unique Set and Story Enhances the Fall Play, "The Innocents"

The fall play "The Innocents" is shown above in the form of set construction as Debbie and Shelley Halling apply the finishing touches to the stairs in the set.

The fall play departed from the usual to portray the eerie mystery of Archibald Macleash. Miles (David Willis) spurts forth a weird and distracting recitation to his governess while sister Flora accompanies on the piano.

The cast of the "Innocents" included David Willis as Miles; Vicki McDowell as Miss Giddens; Muriel Hoferman as Flora; and Sharon Mallett as Mrs. Gross.

Other cast members were Eddie Henry and Freddie Tingwald as the ghosts.

"I'll wager 20 pennies against your head that you can't hit yon deer," entices the head forester, Bill Yates, attempting to trick the unsuspecting 'Robin Hood,' the hero of the play, portrayed by Chris Fazel. Unfortunately for the head forester, Robin did hit yon deer and later slayed the head forester with an arrow also.

Children's Theatre Presents "Robin Hood"

Bill Reiter, cast as the bard of Sherwood Forest, presents a prologue to the upcoming scene. With his poetic verse the bard tells the story of the formation of Robin Hood and his band of outlaws at various times throughout the play.

Below, aiming for the target bull's eye, is one of the king's favorites portrayed by Keith Collins. The prize for the top contender in the Nottingham Fair archery contest is a golden arrow which he may bestow to the lady of his choice.

Joan, DiAnn Coburn, demands of Robert de Baudricourt, Bill Reiter, that she be supplied with equipment to raise the siege of Orleans. Robert's steward, Chris Fazel, hovers to remind his master of the lack of eggs. In other performances throughout the year, 'Saint Joan' and cast received 'I' ratings, including State Speech Contest. Cast member not pictured was Don Nichols who portrayed Bertrand de Poulengey.

Drama and Comedy Depicted by One Acts

In a lighter vein, "The Thisbe and Pyramus Episode" from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" presented the staging of a play within a play. In this scene Thisbe, and Bill Yates, and Pyramus, Brian Wilson, who play the lovers, attempt to kiss through a chink in the wall, portrayed by Joe Rinner. The play was directed by senior Bill Reiter.

Directed by Janice Sharp, assistant dramatics coach, 'Undertow' reveals a half-sister's hatred from a thwarted love affair. In the climaxing scene, the elder sister Abby, Sharon Mallett, tries to give Rosalie an overdose of pills. The timely arrival of the doctor's wife, Dianne Dubridge, saves Rosalie, played by Shelley Halling.

Speechsters Receive Six 'I's' At State

Leading the Speech Club this year were Jean Wilhelm, secretary; DiAnn Coburn, president and Chris Fazel, vice-president. All three also received 1's at State Speech Contest. Chris and DiAnn were both entered in Interpretive Reading Prose and Jean in Dramatic Declamation. Emma Hepker was advisor for the Speech Club.

Ron Lapp earned straight '1's' at State Speech Contest with his Humorous Declamation, "I'm Just A Big, Fat Number." Held at Atlantic, this was the first speech contest for Ron, a senior.

Receiving a '1' rating at State Speech Contest, Pam Jenkins participated in the Original Oratory section with her selection, "My Parents Didn't Understand Me." A member of Speech Club, she has been active in speech for two years.

For the eighth straight year, the drama department, under the direction of Margaret Crouch, received a '1' rating at State Speech Contest. The cast for this year's play, Saint Joan, included Chris Fazel, steward; DiAnn Coburn, Saint Joan; Don Nichols, Bertrand de Poulengy and Bill Reiter, Robert de Boudricourt.

Reading her radio news story before the activity speech class, Mary Willis takes the first step in preparing the script for the Perry High Saturday Review. This program is presented every other Saturday at the local radio station, KDLS, during the school year.

Activity Speech Handles Local Radio Program, “P.H.S. Saturday Review”

“Well, what?” cries Dianna Bys as she dramatizes a portion of her selection, “The Inferiority Complex” in the Humorous Declamation division. Dianna was one of the six speechsters to receive ‘I’ ratings at State Speech Contest. This is her first year in speech work.

Pretaping the Perry High Saturday Review is Jerry Patten at the KDLS radio station. Three students either of the speech class or speech club members record the broadcast. This year for the first time, three live sports broadcasts were given.

The debaters pictured above are Don Nichols, affirmative team; Marvin Scott, debate coach; David Willis, negative team and Jim Boersma, negative team. Steve Koch, who is not pictured, was also a member of the affirmative team which compiled a 21-6 record. The negatives brought in a 12-15 record. Both Koch and Nichols received individual superior and excellent ratings at the State Forensic Tourneys in Iowa City. The boys shown above were comparing information before a debate. Each debater was responsible for collecting his own information from magazines and newspapers and had to be able to give the source and publication date of each quotation used in a debate.

Forensic Tourney Ends Season For Debaters

Jim Boersma was being cross-examined here by Ann Hoewing of Davenport West Central. The debate topic for the year was: Resolved: that the federal government should adopt a policy of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes involving basic industries.

880 and 440 Relay Teams Spark Track Season

Junior Doug Bruce and senior Larry Bandy were chosen as the squad captains. Bruce ran the 220 yard dash and Bandy ran in everything from hurdles to the relays.

Skip Newman, a sophomore speed demon, sets himself in the blocks for the start of the 100 yard dash. He turned in a blazing time of 10.2 seconds in that event and chased the state's best to the finish line while he finished fourth in that event.

Doug Bruce strains for that last bit of energy needed to propel him across the finish line in the 220.

Kim Whiton, Skip Newman, Doug Bruce and Jeff Whiton comprised one of the state's fastest 440 and 880 relay units. This squad set the Wheeler Relays record in the 880 and the Perry Relays mark in the 440. The best performances in these events were clockings of 1:33 in the 880 and 44.7 in the 440.

Jays Sport 7-10 Record

Stan Grout and Larry Bandy handled most of the mound duties for the Blue-jay squad. Grout tallied a 5-4 record and Bandy finished 2-3. Bandy and Steve Payton led the hitting department with .296 averages.

Bill Beckner, who saw brief pitching action, Larry Hill, outfielder and catcher Dick Bailey participated during their senior year.

Jeff Whiton, member of the executive committee of juniors planning for the banquet and prom, enjoys some of the fruits of his labor. Serving the punch is his mother, Mrs. Jack Whiton. Superintendent Robert Horsfall seems to have the same idea.

Juniors and Seniors Enjoy "Enchanted Evening"

The mood of "Some Enchanted Evening" seemed to be successful with John Wilson and Carole Conard. The stars in their eyes are just part of the mystic touch created by the revolving mirrored ball and the court garden in which they are sitting.

Those attending the Junior-Senior Banquet "Cocktails and Candle-Light" enjoyed guest speaker, Tom Smith, of the First National Bank. He passed on various ideas concerning the meaning of happiness. Also speaking was senior Don Nichols on "Retrospect." Chris Fazel served as Master of Ceremonies for the event.

At her own risk, Carole Zike read the 'Class Will' for the Class of 1966, a traditional legacy that each senior leaves to a particular junior and classes. The will was prepared by a committee of juniors supervised by Larry Minard, English Instructor.

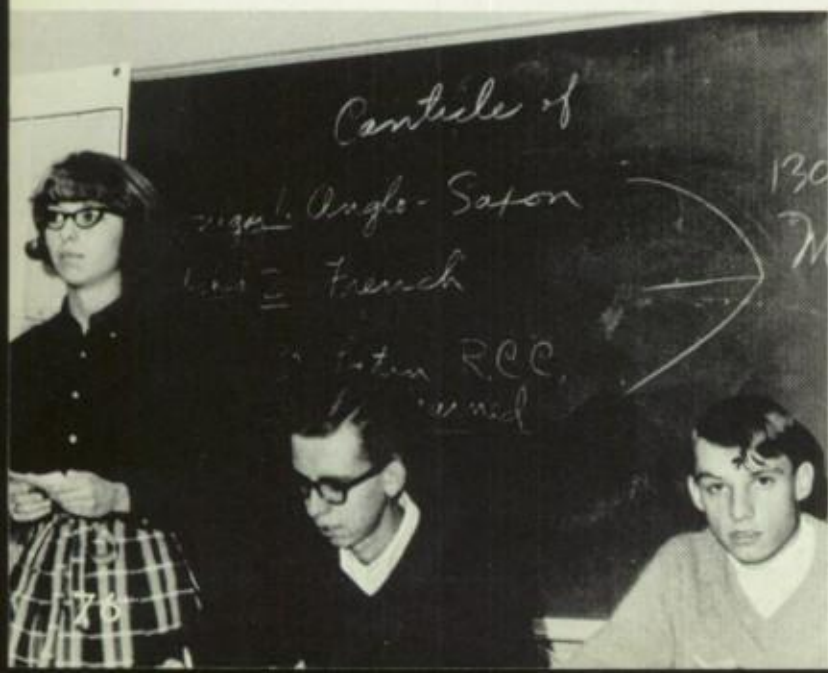

Busily practicing for his piano solo, "Rhapsody No. 2," his entry in State Music Contest, is Dean Bathel. He later received a 'I' rating. Dean's other musical accomplishments during the year included playing the music score in 'Robin Hood.' He was accompanied by Linda Wagoner at the organ.

Pat Wilson adds finishing touches to 'Rag Doll,' one of her many commercial paintings. Anticipating a future in the art field, Pat has lead numerous school art functions including the formation of an Art Club. She is also the creator of the 'op art' design adorning the 'Eclipse' cover.

Various Activities Focus on Individualism

Presenting information to Larry Minard's English Literature class are Verjean Bennett, Steve Ruth and Dennis Hinman. Their talks were part of a study on the science and arts of England preparatory to a study of English literature.

After a year of diligent work on various Y-Teen projects, Debbie Marshall and her mother receive refreshments from president-elect Carole Zike at the Mother-Daughter Tea.
